Invited Talks

I have given more than 200 invited lectures in the US and in twenty-three other countries. This includes more than 50 keynotes or endowed lectures. Some of these lectures were in German, Spanish, or French.

Selected upcoming lectures:

Keynote at the annual conference of the Society for the Study of the History of Analytic Philosophy," Toronto, Canada, July 6-8, 2026.

Teaching and Advising (New School, Oxford, and elsewhere)

I have taught a wide range of undergraduate seminars and lectures, as well as graduate seminars and lectures on topics on moral, social, and political philosophy, on aesthetics, and on figures and topics in the tradition of Oxford ordinary language philosophy. I have regularly offered independent studies, on the same wide range of topics.

I have advised numerous BA Philosophy students, and I have directed many Philosophy MAs, placing more than 35 of these students in competitive PhD programs (mostly in philosophy departments, occasionally in other fields). My advising also includes secondary roles on the committees of many PhD and MA students.

I have directed 25 PhD dissertations at the New School and served as a committee member on 30 further dissertations. I am currently directing 10 dissertations and sitting on 5 further PhD committees. To support my research students, I have since 2012 coordinated a works-in-progress series, and I have since 2009 been the faculty advisory for the New York Wittgenstein Workshop, which gives graduate students a venue for presenting their work on analytic philosophy and meeting others in the field.

I have hosted and supported numerous Fulbright, DAAD, Humboldt and other visiting scholars.

I have been an external committee member on 12 PhD dissertations outside the New School, mostly at institutions outside the US. I did Oxford-based BPhil and MPhil supervisions during the academic year 2018-2019.

University service (New School)

I have generally carried a large service at the New School. Some of my substantial roles have included co-creating a new MA in Climate Futures (in progress since Fall 2024-Winter 2025, then canceled due to The New School's "restructuring"), co-directing a dean's initiative to explore new MA programs at NSSR (fall 2023-spring 2025); co-chairing an NSSR Dean Search, 2022-2023; serving on the New School's University Strategic Planning Steering Committee, June 2022-December 2022; co-founding and serving on the steering committee of the university's Collaborative for Climate Futures, winter 2019-spring 2025; serving as chair of the Philosophy Department, summer 2014-spring 2017; serving as the founding co-director of a graduate program in Gender and Sexuality Studies (now the Gender Institute), summer 2014-summer 2017, after serving as the chair of a university-wide working group to revive graduate level Gender Studies at the New School, fall 2012-spring 2014; and serving as a member of the University Committee for Promotions and Reviews (i.e., the committee charged with a procedural review of all tenure and other promotion cases that come through the university), fall 2011-spring 2013 and fall 2014-summer 2017. I have also served at some point smaller roles at the departmental level (e.g., admissions director, placement director, director of undergraduate studies, etc.). During 2026-2027, I am the Director of Undergraduate Studies for Philosophy.

Professional service
My major professional service roles include Advisory Board Member, SWIP-NYC (Society for Women in Philosophy-NYC), 2020-present; Steering Committee, ESWIP (Eastern Society for Women in Philosophy), 2019-2021; Founding co-organizer of the Berlin Critical Theory Summer School, at the Institute for Philosophy at Humboldt University, 2017-present, and Co-convener of The Prize for Distinguished Achievement in Social Philosophy, 2021 to 2024, Member of the American Philosophical Association, Eastern Division, Program Committee, 2018-2020. I have also organized a wide arrange of international and local conferences and workshops.

I have served as a reviewer for presses, including Acumen Publishing Company, Bloomsbury, University of Chicago Press, Columbia University Press, Harvard University Press, Oxford University Press, Palgrave Macmillan, Polity, Routledge, Stanford University Press. I have also been a reviewer for numerous academic journals, including American Journal of Political Science, American Political Science Review, Analysis, British Journal of Aesthetics, British Journal for the History of Philosophy, Contemporary Literature, Environmental Philosophy, Ethical Theory and Moral Practice, Ethics and Moral Theory, European Journal of Analytic Philosophy, Feminist Philosophy Quarterly, Hypatia, Inquiry, Journal of the History of Philosophy, Journal of Philosophical Research, Journal of Social Philosophy, Mind, Nordic Wittgenstein Review, Pacific Philosophical Quarterly, Partial Answers, Philosophies, Philosophy & Public Affairs, Political Concepts, Philosophical Quarterly , Social Epistemology, Southern Journal of Philosophy, and Synthese.

I have also served as reviewer for a number of foundations, including Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, The Danish Council for Independent Research in the Humanities, The Leverhulme Trust, Riksbankens Jubileumsfond (Sweden), The Swiss National Science Foundation, The Social Sciences and Humanities Research or SSHRC (Canada).

I sit on a number of editorial and advisory boards for presses and have participated in numerous international research groups/projects. My annual service load involves large slates letters of reference, not only for my own students, but for external tenure, promotion to full, and distinguished positions.

Early Teaching, Activism and Related Experience
During my graduate studies, which I split between Harvard and the University of Pittsburgh, I was a Tutor in Philosophy, at two Harvard Houses, 1993-1994 (North House), 1998-2000 (Mather House), and I served as a research assistant to Stanley Cavell 1993-1994. In the years in which I was in Pittsburgh, I worked as a Shelter Advocate/Counselor for Victims of Domestic Violence – Greater Pittsburgh Women's Center & Shelter, 1992-1993 and 1994-1998.

Before attending graduate school, I was a secondary school teacher at the Colegio Americano de Quito, Quito, Ecuador, offering 11th and 12th Grade Philosophy and 9th Grade World History, 1990-1991. While an undergraduate student (Harvard), I was board member at Education For Action (E4A) in Radcliffe Yard, a clearing house for and supporter of radical student activism on the Harvard-Radcliffe campus, 1987-1988 and 1989-1990. For the fall of 1988, I was myself a recipient of small grant from E4A as well as of support from the Sister City Organization of Oaxaca, Mexico and Palo Alto, CA to travel to Southern Mexico and Guatemala to study liberation theology-inspired base communities.

During my undergraduate studies and before, I was a rower. I was a member of the Radcliffe Varsity Rowing Team, 1985-6 (lightweight), 1986-7 (heavyweight), and I was a member of the USA Junior National Rowing Team (6th in women's eight in World Competition in Brandenburg, East Germany, 1985) as well as a member of the Lakeside Women's Crew that won Junior National Championships in 1985 (1st in the women's eight, 1st in the women's four, and 1st as a team) and in 1983 (1st in the women's eight, 3rd in the women's four, and 1st as a team).
